Pharmacist

Heather Hadden is a seasoned primary care pharmacist, with broad experience in the health care system and a passionate for working as a part of a team. Drawing on over 35 years of experience, she has an excellent track record of working with students, clinical clerks, interns, residents, physicians and all Interprofessional Health Care Providers to help navigate drug therapy problems.

Prior to joining CarePoint Health as its first clinical staff member in July 2019, Heather was a primary care pharmacist with the Credit Valley Family Health Team and Medical Teaching Unit where she provided team-based patient care as well as taught University of Toronto medical residents and University of Toronto pharmacy students. She has held numerous other roles over her career, developing and running programs for a wide-variety of patient populations.

Heather brings extensive knowledge in helping patients with medication reconciliation, drug therapy problems/drug related problems, drug plan assistance, adverse drug reaction reporting, drug education, smoking cessation, counseling, and delivering osteoporosis exercise and home falls exercise programs at CarePoint Health.

Heather holds a Bachelor of Science in Pharmacy (BScPhm) degree from the University of Toronto. She is actively involved on the Impact Primary Care Pharmacist Working Group and is Co-chair of the Advocacy Committee. Additionally, Heather is Vice President of Pharmacists for a Smoke Free Ontario and consults for other organizations on their smoking cessation programs.
